

able consequence of the hostile operations of China, who, ignoring our policy of a local settlement and non-aggravation of the situation, moved and concentrated her large armies against us. The action which Japan is taking at the present time is a measure of defense to which she has been compelled to resort by the premeditated provocative acts of China. How what the Japanese Government seek today is merely the abandonment by China of her anti-Japanese policy and the establishment of peace in East Asia through sincere cooperation between Japan and China. They have no territorial designs whatever. In the light of these circumstances, it must be firmly declared that the present action of Japan in China contravenes none of the existing treaties which are in force. It is the policy of the Chinese Government, lending themselves to Communist intrigue, have brought about the present hostilities by their persistent and malicious anti-Japanese measures, and their attempt to do away with the rights and vital interests of Japan in China by force of arms. It is they who should be deemed a violator of the spirit of the Treaty for the Renunciation of War—a menace to the peace of the world. In 1904 China never lighted the banner of peace and was engaged in the unprovoked and unjust aggression against Japan. The present Sino-Japanese crisis originated in the unprovoked and unjust aggression of Japan against China. The Japanese Government have been taken by Japan in attacking the rights and interests of the Chinese people. It is the duty of the Chinese Government to defend the rights and interests of the Chinese people and to maintain the peace and stability of the Far East.

ANNOUNCEMENT ON OCTOBER 9, 1937. The Japanese Government promulgated on September 10 a Law governing emergency measures to be taken with regard to export and import commodities as an emergency measure to meet the present situation. Attached to these regulations are three tables A, B and C, showing classification of the articles.

Articles shown in Table A are cotton, sheep's wool and wood. Although these articles are indispensable in this country, it has been deemed proper under the present circumstances to require the people to practise economy in the consumption of these articles of importation. The restriction of importation of this class of articles being for such purposes, there will be no restriction imposed on the importation of materials to be used for articles for exportation. Articles shown in Table B, number 269, all of which are deemed not urgently necessary or unnecessary. The Government, in selecting these articles, have taken into careful consideration the possible inconveniences on the part of foreigners living in Japan, as well as possible effects on trade with other countries. Consequently, the number of articles to be affected by the present regulations has been greatly reduced. Furthermore, it has been decided to require no permission for the importation of articles under 50 yen in value. While this measure may appear unsatisfactory when viewed from the standpoint of of the Municipal Council. During these campaigns the Japanese passed (十月十五日) through a woman and three men and slightly injured a woman and in foreign depots.

STATEMENT BY THE DIRECTOR OF THE INFORMATION BUREAU TO THE PRESS.

The Chinese Foreign Office issued a statement alleging that the Japanese forces used poison gas in the engagements on October 4th and 5th around Shanghai. This allegation was most emphatically denied on Monday afternoon, October 11th, by the Spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Office, who described the Chinese charge as utterly absurd and untrue.

That the Chinese are resorting to all sorts of false charges and allegations against the Japanese forces is quite understandable, the Spokesman said, because their own forces on land, sea and in the air having proved no match for the strength of the Japanese forces, the last straw to which the Chinese can cling is propaganda based on their own hallucinations.
