YANGTZE DEFENCE SCHEMES.
(Short Title - Y.D.S. No.6.)

VI. NANKING.

In the event of anti-foreign riots taking place at Nanking, Naval assistance to protect foreigners may be asked for.

2. If the riots are of a minor nature, garrdes will be sent to the following places :-

British, American and Japanese Consulate.
Nanking University.
Standard Oil Hill.

Foreign residents are at liberty to come into any of these posts for protection, and should do so if advised by the Consuls. It must be clearly understood that this applies to Foreigners only, and not to their Chinese employees. Foreigners should, if possible bring with them food and any necessaries.

3. All parties will afford equal assistance to all Foreigners irrespective of nationality.

4. If the riots are of a more serious nature, and the assistance of the Chinese Police and Soldiery cannot be counted on, evacuation will become necessary. Naval Forces will hold the New Gate and the Bridge over ~~the~~ the Canal, and if sufficient forces are available, will proceed to the Standard Oil Hill and towards the foreign residences. On receiving warning, all Foreigners inside the City wall are to make for the New Gate without delay, from where they will be escorted to Butterfield & Swire and Nisshin Kisen Kaisha wharves.

S I G N A L S.

5. The British Consul General has been supplied with with a Very's Pistol complete with green and white cartridges, for use as an emergency signal to ask for armed assistance in the event of direct communication being impossible. The signal will be green and white lights fired alternately, and is to be answered by a British Ship, if present, with Very's lights of the same colours.

~~Signal~~
ACTION TO BE TAKEN.

6. All available forces are to be landed as soon as possible and are to assemble on the open space abreast ~~Butterfield and Swire and Nisshin Kisen Kaisha wharves.~~

Butterfield and Swire and Nisshin Kisen Kaisha wharves.

7. A strong force is to be sent on as soon as ~~it~~ available by the track across the parade ground and along the narrow gauge railway line, to the Bridge over the canal, and thence to the New Gate. It is important to obtain control of this Gate as soon as possible in order to prevent its being closed and locked.

8. Remainder are to proceed to the Yangtze Hotel by the same route and are to hold the Bridge over the canal and control the road on both sides of the Canal, running to the North, and thus keep open the road ~~to~~ running from the New Gate to the Yangtze Hotel.

9. A party is to be left on the Bund with at least one Lewis Gun to protect the point of embarkation.

10. If sufficient forces are available, a force is to proceed through the New Gate on to the Standard Oil Hill and as far beyond as may be practicable. This force must act according to circumstances, but, unless a very strong force is available, it must not lose touch with the force at the New Gate.

11. If, however, it is ascertained that the attack is being conducted by a small unarmed body of men, that the military are not participating, and that assistance will eventually be forthcoming from the Chinese Police and Soldiery, parties may be sent as guards for the following posts, but the forces referred to in paragraphs 7 and 8 above are still to be posted, provided sufficient men are available, to keep open the New Gate and the Bridge over the Canal, in case evacuation becomes necessary:-

BRITISH CONSULATEBritish Party.
AMERICAN CONSULATE.....AMERICAN Party.
JAPANESE CONSULATE.....Japanese Party.
NANKING UNIVERSITY.....American Party.
STANDARD OIL HILL.....American Party.

12. If available, a demolition party is to be landed in case it is necessary to blow open the New Gate.

13. Searchlights are to be kept ready for use at night.

resents his compliments to his Colleagues and has the honour to refer to the Defence Scheme which was discussed on January 17th, 1925, by the Consular Body and by the Senior Naval Officers of the countries which were at that time represented in Nanking by men-of-war. The Scheme was subsequently drawn up by the Senior Naval Officers and approved by the Consular Body.

Rear-Admiral Cameron, commanding the British Flotilla (on the Yangtze, has now prepared a modified version of the earlier Scheme, which he requests may be submitted to the Consular representatives of the other Powers at Nanking. Should the latter wish to discuss any of the proposals, the Senior Consul will be glad to call a meeting for the purpose.
This will of course be unnecessary should the scheme be approved as it stand.

It should be explained that no imminent urgency is anticipated and that the scheme has merely been drafted with a view to preparing for future possibilities. Should the occasion ever arise, a number of minor points will naturally call for revision.
In particular the distribution of the forces of the various nationalities will, in the event of a landing, naturally depend on the number of men-of-war of each Power in harbour at the time. The larger number of American armed parties, as provided for in the Scheme, is due to the preponderance of the American Naval force in Nanking in January, 1925. This would naturally be altered as required; it was considered unnecessary to do so at the present moment.

The scheme was devised purely with a view to securing international cooperation should naval assistance at any future time be required.

MEMORANDUM

relative to

NANKING CO-OPERATED DEFENCE SCHEMES.

甲 字 号

Rear-Admiral Osami Nagano, commanding the Japanese First Foreign Service Squadron, has prepared Memorandum on the Nanking Co-operated Defence Schemes as modified by Rear-Admiral Cameron, commanding the British Flotilla on the Yantze, which is now given as follows :-

(1) It is the Imperial Japanese Navy's earnest desire that hearty co-operation be secured, when anti-foreign riots arising at Nanking requires co-operated naval assistance ⁱⁿ order to protect foreign residents.

(2) In view of the circumstances varied on each occasion, it would seem difficult to frame a detailed scheme of co-operated defence to meet every future possibility.

The Imperial Japanese Navy is, however, ready and willing to declare herself in favour of the following items ;

(a) The paragraphs 2 & 3, provided the posts are ^{assigned} to the various navies in accordance with the list given in the latter part of paragraph II.

(b) In the event of evacuation taking place, the route for foreign refugees shall be through the New Gate on the Bund.

(3) In case unvisualized circumstances arise, the Imperial Japanese Navy will be at liberty to take measures that are judged the most opportune under the then circumstances.

(4) With reference to items other than those approved in paragraph (2) above, such requiring as they do a great deal of care and delicacy in the exercise of military power, a joint conference of commanding officers shall be convened according as the occasion requires, where the most effective measures shall be decided upon in the light of the circumstances at the time.

(5) The Signals as provided in paragraph 5 are considered liable to be mistaken as signifying that the British Consul General is asking for the Royal Navy's independent assistance. If the signals in question are meant to serve as emergency signals asking joint naval assistance, it is proposed that these will be employed after due deliberation of the Consular representatives of the Powers.

(6) It is requested that the fact be clearly understood that, according to the Japanese Regulation, the armed parties are landed in those cases alone, when, on the Japanese consul's request, the commanding officer present justifies the measure, and when whether the request is made or not, the officer decided to take the step on his own judgement.

(7) In the event of any Power landing armed parties independently, her commanding officer is requested to communicate the fact at the earliest date to the commanding officers of the other nationalities.

Signed by Osami Nagano,

Rear-Admiral

The Japanese

First Foreign Service Squadron.

considered necessary, but could be arranged if special circumstances render it desirable.

NOTE. The Very's lights will be fired from the top Custom House verandah, and will only be fired on the authority of the British Consul or, in his absence, by such person as he may authorize. If available, a portable W/T set will be used for communication between Japanese Consulate and Japanese Gunboat.

ALARM SIGNAL. This will consist of the S.O.S. (3 shorts, 3 longs 3 shorts) on the siren of the American or other Gunboat. Also four guns fired at about-se 5 seconds interval by the British or other Gunboat. These signals will be made
(a) if the Very's lights are fired from the Custom House or (b) on the request of the Defence Committee.

EVACUATION. If evacuation becomes necessary, the Foreigner from the Customs Compound will be evacuated to a convenient steamer via the Custom's Pentoon under cover of the British Gunboat. The foreigners from the Japanese Consulate will be evacuated by the safest route at the discretion of the officer in command there. If necessary, the landing parties from the British and American Gunboats will assist to cover the evacuation after the other party has been evacuated.
COMMUNICATION. Communication between the Japanese Consulate and the Customs' Compound will be by means of British section will proceed to the British Consulate (if the situation admits) but will be withdrawn if close touch with the Customs' Compound can not be maintained. The landing party from the Japanese Gunboat will proceed to the Japanese Consulate under the orders of their own Officers. A boat with an armed party from the American Gunboat will proceed to the Salt Gabelle, C.I.W. and, if necessary, to S.O.C. and A.P.C. Installations to bring in the foreigners from these places. The Gunboat will take up the following stations:-

Japanese:- off Erh Ka Lu.

American:- ^{Cable Point} off ex-Best Siler Co. & Gillespies

British:- ^{Station} B & S. Bank.
American:- off ~~Station~~ course.

All foreign merchant ships in harbour to raise steam and, if necessary, move further out to enable the Gunboats to take up their positions. A boat from one of the Gunboats will be sent to deliver these orders. This should be done immediately the alarm signal is made. The Defence Committee will arrange with the Heads of Firms for the necessary orders to be communicated to the Captains of Ships.

SIGNALS. The British Consul has been supplied with a Very's Pistol. In an emergency, and if time does not admit of a written request, for armed assistance, being sent to the Gunboats, the firing of alternate green and white lights at night is to be taken as a request for armed forces to be landed immediately. This signal will be answered by the same coloured Very's lights fired by the British Gunboats. Owing to the proximity of the Gunboats to the shore, a signal for use by day is not

ICHANG DEFENCE SCHEME.

This scheme is based on the presence of one American, one British and one Japanese gunboat in port.

GENERAL IDEA.

Two safe points will be established, viz:- The Customs' Compound and the Japanese Consulate.

All Foreigners should make for one of these points on the first signs of trouble. It will not normally be possible for an armed force to be sent out to bring in isolated foreigners. Isolated garrisons to protect property cannot be provided. Foreigners who find it impossible to reach one of the safe points unaided should collect at one of the following places:-

(A) Customs' Club. (B) Rankine Hospital.

(C) W.K.K. (D) Scotch Ladies Mission.

and take such precautions for their own defence as are possible. If the situation admits, the officer in command at the Customs' Compound may, at his own discretion, send out a strong party to bring in foreigners from (B), (C) & (D). Similarly the officer in command at the Japanese Consulate from (A). But such parties can only be sent out if the risk of their being involved in street fighting is very small, and foreigners should therefore make every endeavour to reach one of the two safe points, ^(viz Customs Compound or Japanese Consulate) as soon as possible.

R Japanese landing party on its way to Japanese Consulate will necessarily pass the W.K.K. Building up Erh Ma Lu, and along road past Customs and Japanese Clubs. Foreigners of all nationality can join this party en route, but the party will, of course, wait for no one.

DISPOSITIONS. The landing parties from the American and British gunboats will proceed to the Customs' Compound where the Senior Naval Officer will take command. One

Shang,

British Consulate, Ichang, China.

14. 7. '26.

Dear Mr. Urakawa,

The existing Defence Scheme for Ichang is to be radically revised. Here is to be a meeting at my office tomorrow morning at 10.30 of the British, Japanese & American gunboat commanders with myself, Mr. Tisdall & Mr. Seguela who constitute the so-called Defence Committee.

It seems to me that every Consul "de carrier" at Ichang should be a member of this Defence Committee, & I hope you will be present tomorrow at the meeting.

No reply is required, unless you cannot attend.

Yours Sincerely
A.F. Blunt.

III Action to be taken by civilian residents

6. All outlying residents who have received special notification to that effect should proceed to the Japanese Consulate from whence they will be brought in to the Customs compound by an armed guard.
All other residents must make their way to the Customs compound, if necessary the connecting doors may be used.

The armed guard must on no account be kept waiting.

7. The gates at either end of the Post Office lane will be closed by the Customs staff as soon as an outbreak occurs.

The foregoing measures were formulated at a meeting of the Defense Committee held at the British Consulate on the 10th. September 1926.

26

TEMPORARY DEFENSE SCREEN -- ICHANG 10/9/26.

1. The following signals have been arranged for use in Emergency:
White and Green Very's stars fired alternately meaning "Defense Committee wish for naval guards to be landed immediately".

2. All merchant vessels in harbour shall get up steam upon the firing of the White and Green stars, calling for Naval guards to be landed. Merchant vessels shall as soon as practicable shift to an outer anchorage in order to leave room for the gunboats to occupy the inner anchorage.
The tugs Iwo and Patung will proceed alongside the Customs pontoon.

3. The signals mentioned in paragraph 1 will be fired from the top Custom House verandah (using the Very's pistol which is on loan to the British Consul) and they will be answered by similar coloured stars fired from the Senior British gunboat and the American gunboat.

II Action to be taken by Naval Authorities

4. As soon as the signal for landing armed guards is received, these will be landed and concentrated in the Customs compound.
The following sections will be landed:

Ship	Section No	Remarks
Widgeon	1	Lieut. in command
Kantia	2&3)
Scarab	4&5)
Teal	6	Lieut. in command

Sections 4, 5&6 will then proceed to the Japanese Consulate via the Customs Club, to bring in the foreigners already assembled there to the Customs Compound.
The Japanese members of this party will then be escorted from the Customs compound to the M. K. K. building.

5. Gunboats in port will as soon as armed guards are landed raise steam and move to the following anchorages:

- a. USS Penguin remains at Socoy's pontoon to guard Socoy and A. P. C. installations.
- b. HMS Widgeon and Kantia remain off Customs pontoon
- c. HMS Scarab
proceeds to berth off the M. K. K.
building
- d. HMS Cockchafer
USS Penguin will stand by to go and assist
- e. HMS Teal remains in present berth
- f. Kiavo anchors in the most suitable position to cover the approach to British merchant vessels at anchor

H.M.S. "Wild Swan",

At Hanking,

25th November 1926.

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that at a conference held on board H.M.S. "Wild Swan" this day between myself and the Commanding Officers of the U.S. Destroyer "Pope" and the Japanese river gunboat "Seta", the following arrangements were agreed to as forming the general scheme in the event of it being necessary to land Naval Landing Parties for the protection, or possible evacuation, of all foreigners at Hankings:-

1. No parties will be landed except at the request of the individual consular authority.

If such request is from one consular authority only, the party from the ship of that nationality only will land immediately, the other ships' landing parties being held in readiness to land if asked for by their consul or by the Senior Naval Officers present, if he considers that it is probable that the Consulate concerned is unable to communicate, or that reinforcements are necessary or desirable.

2. If a general combined landing operation is necessary, the following parties will be landed with all despatches:-

POSITION.	NUMBER.	PROVIDED BY.
Hanking University.	1 Officer, 15 men.	Americans.
Japanese Consulate.	1 Officer, 20-30 men.	Japanese.
American Consulate.	1 Officer, 15 men.	Americans.
