Informal Memorandum

During the recent ECOSOC session the pressure of business did not permit consideration of the question of Japan's membership in ECAFE. Japan can become an associate member of ECAFE only after ECOSOC, which meets again in April, 1952, has made the necessary modifications in the ECAFE terms of reference. During the forthcoming eighth ECAFE meeting at Rangoon (January 29 to February 9, 1952), it is hoped that the request for the desired changes in the terms of reference may be formulated for subsequent presentation to ECOSOC. Such a request would presumably include suggested amendments to permit Japan's inclusion in the geographical scope of ECAFE and to accept Japan as an associate member.

It is suggested that an appropriate course of action on the part of the Japanese Government would be to address a formal communication to the Executive Secretary, ECAFE, on or about December 1, 1951, requesting that the eighth session consider a recommendation to ECOSOC providing for Japan's associate membership in ECAFE, and that Japanese representatives be admitted as observers to the eighth session and other ECAFE meetings. It is further suggested that the Japanese delegates could arrive in Rangoon in advance of the opening of the eighth session (January 29, 1952) and thus be prepared to take their seats as observers as soon as advised of ECAFE action on the Japanese request.

Information

During the recent ECOSOC session the pressure of business did not permit consideration of the question of Japan's membership in ECOSOC, which meets again in April, 1953, has made the necessary modifications in the ECOSOC terms of reference. During the ECOSOC meeting at London (January 29 to February 2, 1953) it was decided that the request for the desired changes in the terms of reference be formulated for submission to ECOSOC and a request for its inclusion in the geographical scope of ECOSOC and to accept Japan as an associate member.

It is suggested that an appropriate course of action on the part of the Japanese Government would be to address to the Secretary, ECOSOC, on or about December 1, 1951, a memorandum requesting that the ECOSOC provide for Japan's associate membership in ECOSOC and that ECOSOC be authorized to accept Japan as an associate member. It is further suggested that the Japanese Government should also address to the Secretary, ECOSOC, a memorandum in which it is stated that the Japanese Government is prepared to accept Japan as an associate member of ECOSOC as soon as the Secretary reports.

Dr. P. S. Lokanathan

The question to be considered is whether as soon as the Commission has approved at the coming General Session the proposal of Pakistan to amend item 2 of the terms of the reference of ECAGE so as to include Japan, it is opened : (a) to Japan to present an application for admission as an associate member at the same Session; (b) to the Commission to act at the same Session to admit Japan as from the date of acceptance by the ECOSOC of the amendment to item 2 of the terms of reference.

In other words whether Japan and the Commission can either or both follow up action in anticipation of approval by the higher body.

Early in the Assembly the United States proposed that Italy be admitted to ICAO. This proposal, which was unanimously adopted by the Assembly, would permit Italy to become a member of ICAO unless objection was made by the next General Assembly of the United Nations. Under the terms of the Chicago Convention, formal assent of Ethiopia, France, and Greece was also required. The assent of France and Greece was obtained at the Assembly.

My dear Mr. Togo,

You will recall that when I was in Japan the question was put to me as to whether it would be possible for the Commission to consider the admission of Japan as associate member at the eighth session itself after the proposal of the Pakistan Government recommending to the Economic and Social Council the amendment of Paragraph 2 and 3(a)(i) as approved by the Commission.

I am now in a position to state that the suggested procedure is not impossible. In other words, if the Pakistan resolution is adopted in the Commission asking the Economic and Social Council to amend Paragraph 2 of the terms of reference, another resolution might be adopted stating that should the Council adopt a resolution approving the Commission's resolution on the terms of reference Japan will be admitted as of the date of the Council's resolution as an associate member of the Commission.

For this procedure to be adopted, however, it would be essential for the Commission to have an application signed by the Minister for Foreign Affairs, requesting the Commission to admit Japan as an associate member, so that immediately after the Pakistan resolution is adopted this application might be presented to the Commission for action. The resolution referred to here is the resolution contained in document E/CN.11/328, a copy of which is herewith enclosed.

I need hardly add that all these are entirely for the Commission to decide and my letter is intended to clarify the procedure but in no way to anticipate the decisions of the Commission.

Yours sincerely,

AMENDMENT TO ECAFE'S TERMS OF
REFERENCE FOR CLOSER ASSOCIATION OF JAPAN WITH THE COMMISSION.

The ECOSOC at its fifth session held in July, 1947, amended the terms of reference of the ECAFE to permit mutual consultation between the representatives of the control authorities in Japan and the Commission on matters of mutual interest. The Commission's Secretariat in the fourth and subsequent sessions of the Commission and its Committee had submitted several reports on Japan's economic potentialities, and had stressed the need for the realisation of the objective of mutual co-operation between Japan and the countries of the region for the expansion of Japan's potential in the production of capital goods for export in exchange for raw materials available from the countries of the region. The member governments of the ECAFE have paid continued attention to the possibilities of maximising trade with Japan, as the importance of Japan's industrial potential in relation to the economic development of the Asian countries is patent as is also Japan's need of raw materials for the rehabilitation of its own economy. The change in the international status of Japan arising from the recent Peace Treaty with this country make it necessary to reconsider the question of future consultations between the ECAFE and Japan. It is indispensable that the mutual co-operation, which has been established between Japan and the countries of the region by consultations referred to above, should be continued and intensified. Pakistan is confident that the governments, which are represented on the Commission, would welcome Japan's closer association and active co-operation in efforts to achieve the economic advancement of the countries in Asia and the Far East. To attain such association and co-operation, Pakistan recommends that the Commission do approve an amendment to paragraph 2 of the terms of reference of the Commission to include Japan in the list of territories mentioned in this paragraph, and to effect any other consequential changes arising and necessary to bring Japan within the geographical scope of the Commission and to request the ECOSOC to approve the amendments effected in the terms of reference of the Commission. One of the consequential changes that may arise would be the need to delete para 10 of the terms of reference adopted at the Seventh Session of the Commission to enable Japan to associate and achieve membership of the Commission in due course in its own right and in keeping with its sovereign position attained with the signing of the Peace Treaty at San Francisco on 8th September, 1951.
